

MEN AND FORWARD RELIGIOUS MOVEMENT

Subject of a Brilliant Address and Enthusiastic Meeting at Y.M.C.A.

There were upwards of 150 men present at Y. M. C. A. hall on Sunday afternoon, to hear a very able address by Mr. Robert Carleton of New York on "Men and Religion Forward Movement," a movement that has been started in New York and is now spreading all over the country. Mr. Carleton is General Secretary of the Movement and he came on here from Maryland to address this meeting. He explained the object and hopes of the Movement and urged the men of Portsmouth to do their share. The meeting was presided over by Mr. J. True Davis, president of the Y. M. C. A., and Mr. J. W. Hobbs read the scripture and Messrs. C. W. Gray and H. P. Montgomery sang a duet and Mr. Alex. Bilbruck a solo.

TWO FREIGHT TRAINS IN HEAD ON COLLISION

Engineer Bradley Killed and Tracks Blockaded from Crash

One of the worst freight wrecks that has occurred in recent years on the Worcester and Nashua division of the Boston and Maine railway occurred at 3.30 this morning just east of Hampstead depot. Two special freights known as rounders in charge of Conductors Smith and Gaffney with 30 or more heavily loaded cars and running at a fast speed came together with a crash that could be heard for miles. Thirteen cars were piled up in splinters and freight of all kinds was strewn along the track for nearly a half mile. Engineer Bradley of Nashua of the east bound freight was killed almost instantly and his body is still under the wreck. The engineer and fireman of the other train escaped by jumping. One or two of the brakemen were injured in jumping and from the sudden stop of the trains. The big compound locomotives are a total wreck and are piled up like a lot of junk. The roadbed is in bad shape for a quarter of a mile and all main line through traffic is blocked. Trains are being run via Manchester and Epping. Wrecking trains are at work there and several of the railroad officials are on the scene, having arrived on a special train to look after the work of clearing the track and to investigate the cause of which is said to be a misunderstanding or orders.

UNHAPPY COUPLES FIFTY IN NUMBER

They Sue for Divorce at Present Term of Court

The striking feature of the docket issued by Clerk of Court Charles H. Knight is the length of the equity docket. The new list contains 131 cases, more than fifty of which are divorce libels. Among the latest issued are those of Emma Cassavani against Herbert L. Cassavani, Elizabeth S. Howe against Joseph Howes, Charles E. Beane against Lillian M. Beane, Luella L. Coleman against Luther M. Coleman, Sallie Harby Alberts G. Daley against David Daley, Bessie M. Abbott against Arthur G. Abbott, and Winifred L. Pope against Dr. Lemuel V. Pope.

The docket contains 123 civil actions. The first is that of the Mexican National bank against Clarence A. Taylor and G. K. Bartlett administrators of the estate of William Taylor. The last case written into the docket is that of John E. Cochran, executor of William P. Simpson appellant against Sarah J. Brown and Nancy M. Simpson. The first case was entered in October, 1898.

The town of Hampton has entered twenty-one suits against twelve taxpayers who, it is alleged, have failed to pay equitable sewer assessments. Eastman, Scammon and Gardner are counsel for the town and Samuel W. Emery is counsel for the defendants. Additional suits have been brought by the town against other citizens in a second bill.

Nellie J. Gibson of Rye has brought suit for $2000 against Dr. Henry L. Stickney of Manchester, alleging personal injuries sustained in an automobile accident. Mrs. Gibson charges that Dr. Stickney's automobile collided with a buggy driven by her at Hampton Beach during the summer and that she was tossed from the buggy to the roadway.

ANOTHER CHAPTER IN CALL CASE

Mrs. Pope Brings Action for Divorce

Another chapter in the legal entanglements that surround Thomas R. Call, the retired lumber merchant Mrs. Mabelle L. Call and Dr. Lemuel Pope, Jr., is written in a divorce libel brought by Mrs. Winifred L. Pope against her husband. The first intimation of Mrs. Pope's proceedings for divorce became public yesterday through the docket of the superior court. While the basis for the libel is not made public it is said that it is prompted by the previous legal proceedings in which the Call family is concerned.

Mr. Call recently brought suit against Dr. Pope for alleged alienation of his wife's affections. Earlier episode of the law proceedings were a libel for divorce brought against Mr. Call by his wife which was granted; a cross-libel brought by Mr. Call; a bill equity brought by Mr. Call against his wife for the return of certain of his funds alleged to have been held by her, and a bill of discovery brought by her relatives to determine the status of cash and bonds supposed to have been owned by a wealthy uncle of Mrs. Call. The actions are returnable at the session of superior court to begin in this city Oct. 17.

Mrs. Call's libel for divorce was based on the charge of conduct injurious to health. She charged her husband with "a certain man." This libel and the libel brought by Mr. Call were returnable the last session of court in Exeter and Mrs. Call was granted a divorce. It is said that when the divorce was granted, Mr. and Mrs. Call agreed as to the disposition of much of the Call property some of which finally reverted to the Call family.

Page, Bartlett and Mitchell appear for Mr. Call, and for the relatives who bring the bill of discovery to determine the status of the funds of Mrs. Call's uncle, Frank, Marvin and

NOTED SPECIALISTS PERFORM OPERATIONS

There were three noted surgeons here on Sunday who performed operations at the Portsmouth hospital in the presence of a great number of the medical society.

They were Dr. R. D. MacAusland, Chief Orthopedic Surgeon at the Carney hospital, Boston, Dr. F. Howard Leahy and Dr. L. G. Tobey, both of Boston, and both well known specialists.

At the hospital Dr. MacAusland performed two very difficult operations. Drs. Leahy and Tobey also had surgical cases here, that required equal skill in their lines.

SAYS LABOR MEN REALIZE BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA ARE NOT MILITARY IN AIM

James E. West Points Out the Difference Between the Activities of the Boy Scouts of America and the American Boy Scouts.

The aims and the scope of the Boy Scouts of America as distinguished from those of the American Boy Scouts are set forth in a letter which James E. West, Executive Secretary of the first named organization, has written to Henry Clay Thompson, Jr. Scout Commissioner of St. Louis, Mo. Mr. West's letter points out that the Boy Scouts of America are not military; and unlike the American Boy Scouts do not train the boys to carry guns or give them any detailed military drill. He says on behalf of the leaders of the organization that the Movement is designed for the sons of poor as well as rich men; that with this end in view every change suggested by labor men in the Boy Scout Manual has been quickly made.

Finally, Mr. West points out that the military activities of the American Boy Scouts largely have been responsible for the opposition of several Labor Unions and the Socialists toward the Scout Movement. This statement is proved by many things that have happened in the last few weeks. First the Central Trades and Labor Union of St. Louis passed a resolution asking the Union bands not to participate in the parade to President Taft if the Boy Scouts marched. Investigation showed that the Labor men had got their impression of the Scout Movement from the military drills of the American Boy Scouts, and for that reason were opposed to the organization. At the conference with the representatives of the Boy Scouts of America the Labor men expressed their approval of the activities of the Boy Scouts of America, and agreed to have the Boy Scouts participate in the parade and reception to President Taft. The Boy Scouts are acting as escorts to President Taft in many of the towns where he is stopping.

Milton A. McRae, of Detroit, Mich., Second Vice-President of the Boy Scouts of America, entertained the President at breakfast in Detroit, and had several talks with him regarding the Boy Scout Movement. To Mr. McRae the President expressed his cordial approval of the organization. In several instances the hostility of labor men has been dispelled quickly in conferences with the leaders of the Boy Scouts of America.

"As perhaps you know," writes Mr. West, "Mr. Taft is Honorary President of the Boy Scouts of America and is in hearty sympathy with our Movement. Of course he would not be if there was any basis for the criticism of some of the labor people of the different parts of the country. In every instance brought to our attention, investigation has shown that the opposition of the Labor people and Socialists has been based upon misinformation for which they should not be blamed all together.

Two important factors have caused utterly wrong impressions to be spread throughout the country about the Boy Scouts of America. The first is the confusion of the Boy Scouts of America with the organization known as the American Boy Scouts. The two organizations are entirely different in aims and activities. The American Boy Scouts which was promoted under the auspices of William Randolph Hearst of the New York American is distinctly military in its purposes and its operations. The scope of that organization and the methods of several of its officers caused Mr. Hearst to resign. The aims and the activities of the Boy Scouts of America are for peace and building up of body, mind and character. It doubtless will be found in St. Louis as in other communities where the labor people have expressed opposition that the false impressions concerning the Boy Scouts of America were from groups of small boys carrying rifles and identified with the American Scouts. The rifle is not a part of the equipment of the Boy Scouts of America. No boy can join the Boy Scouts of America until he is twelve years old.

Another cause for confusion was the unfortunate use in the book temporarily used as a manual for the Boy Scouts of America of certain material from the English Manual which was objectionable to the labor organizations, as well as to the leaders of the Scout Movement. This mistake was most natural. In the effort to meet the urgent demands of the boys in all parts of the country clamoring for literature on the Scout Movement, a book was hastily prepared for temporary use and without intentionally doing so, parts of the English Manual which did not conform with American conditions were reprinted without revision. As soon as attention was invited to this material the Executive Board of the Boy Scouts of America at considerable expense, directed that the plates of the book be changed as soon as practicable. In this as in all other matters, the leaders of the Scout Movement endeavored to show that the American boys, rich or poor and its plan is to make them strong in character as in body.

"As soon as the committee organized as a result of the first Council meeting held in Washington in February, 1911, met for the purpose of

A HARMLESS WAY TO DARKEN THE HAIR

A Little Sage and Sulphur Makes Gray Hair Vanish—A Remedy
For All Hair Trouble

Who does not know the value of sage and sulphur for keeping the hair dark, soft, glossy and in good condition? As a matter of fact, sulphur is a natural element of hair and a deficiency of it in the hair is held by many scalp specialists to be connected with loss of color and vitality of the hair. Unquestionably, there is no better remedy for hair and scalp troubles, especially premature grayness, than sage and sulphur, if properly prepared. The Wyeth Chemical Company of New York put up an ideal remedy of this kind called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, and authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

If you have dandruff, or if your hair is thin or turning gray, get a bottle of this remedy from your druggist today, and see what it will do for you.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

Special Agent, G. B. Philbrick, 45 Congress street.

Americanizing the Scout Movement which has been so successful in England radical changes were made in some of the Scout laws and requirements. Those with reference to loyalty and obedience which were most offensive to the labor people were changed entirely. Formerly one read: 'A Scout is loyal to the President and to his officers and to his parents, his country and his employers. He must stick to them through thick and thin against anyone who is their enemy and who even talks badly of them,' and the other one read, 'A Scout obeys orders from his parents, patrol leaders and Scoutmasters without question.'

"These two laws were changed to read as follows. First: 'A Scout is loyal. He is loyal to all to whom loyalty is due,—his scout leader, his home, and parents and country,' and the other one was changed to read as follows: 'A Scout is obedient. He obeys his parents, Scoutmaster, Patrol Leader and all other duly constituted authorities.'

"Surely no patriotic American citizen, whether a member of a labor union, or affiliated with any other organization supporting American institutions and truly interested in American boys can seriously object to these Scout laws as modified.

"You can say most emphatically that the leaders of the Scout Movement are not hostile to the labor unions. They are backing the Scout Movement because they wish to train the boys of our country to be honest, upright self-reliant and to be PREPARED in all emergencies and under all circumstances to do the right and creditable thing being guided at all time by their own individual conscience which by reason of the Scout principles, it is aimed to develop in a broad and patriotic fashion.

"Whenever I have had occasion to talk this matter over with the labor leaders, to admit that they had been misinformed and I sincerely believe that if you will take the matter up in a judicial and tactful manner with the people in St. Louis who have influenced the action reported in the newspapers that you can make progress in having it adjusted so as to remove the objection to the Boy Scout taking part in the reception to President Taft.

"I am quite confident that if you will show these labor people our new Handbook for Boys they will fail to find therein anything seriously objectionable. In fact we are having from different parts of the country some very strong testimonials from labor men who are anxious that their boys should have the benefit of the wholesome program provided by the Scout Movement. In the interest of fair play the sons of the laboring men, we should patiently endeavor to have their intelligent leaders clearly understand what we are striving for. If they have any constructive criticism to offer, I am confident that our Executive Board will be glad to favorably consider the same. As is plainly shown in every piece of literature issued from this office, it is the desire of all concerned to develop the movement in such a way as to command the active support of all classes of American people, irrespective of religious belief or social position.

Not Going That Way.
"Miss Adkins, there is something I desire very much to ask you."
"Oh, Mr. Williston—I mean Fred—I'm sure I should be delighted to hear—that is, I mean what is there that you can possibly wish to ask me?"
"Would you be willing to go on a long journey with me?"
"A very, very long journey, Fred?"
"Yes, a very, very long journey."
"Yes, I will go with you. Of course I—suppose it is the journey that a man and a woman take together only once in a lifetime?"
"Well, as a rule I suppose it would not be taken more than once. You see, my mother and I are thinking of taking a trip to Japan, and she thought it would be nice if I could find some one who would be willing to go as a sort of travelling companion and maid to her in return for having her expenses paid."
"Oh! Well, you just tell your homely mother that when I wish to hire out I'll look for some other kind of a job."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Father's Dilemma.
A parent's life is one long responsibility. It's a wonder that so many of the genus discharge their duties so acceptably. A writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer has discovered another parental problem, or perhaps he merely calls attention to one which many fathers have discovered for themselves.

"How's the family?" one inquired of a happily married west sider yesterday.

"Well, my children are at a difficult age now."

"Difficult? Why, they've all passed the measles and teething stage, have they not?"
"Long ago. But you don't know a father's troubles. My children are at the age where if I use slang my wife says I'm setting a bad example, and if I speak correctly the kids think I'm a lunk number. Which would you do?"

In a Japanese Sleeping Car.
It was at night we had our first experience in a Japanese sleeping car. The track is narrow gauge, and the standard sleeping cars have six seats running lengthwise, each seating two passengers, with a center aisle. The upper berth is the regular Pullman style, and a section will accommodate two passengers. The night was during the extreme heat of midsummer, the car was crowded, and in addition to the regular curtains each berth was provided with a mosquito bar, which added to the general discomfort. Passengers were taken on and let down at all stops, so there was a constant procession through the aisle all night. Part of the car was reserved for local accommodation, and those who sat up smoked incessantly, so that long before morning the atmosphere became intolerable.—Railway Age Gazette.

Submarines at Sea.
Equilibrium is almost as difficult to maintain for a submarine vessel as for an aeroplane. With modern large submarines the act of diving is performed when the vessels have headway. The bow is depressed by horizontal rudders, and the vessel moves obliquely downward. The desired depth having been attained, the steersman must so manage the horizontal rudders that the vessel shall practically maintain its level; but, in fact, its course becomes really an undulating one. There must be no movement of men or weights in the vessel without immediate compensation to restore and maintain the balance, else the submarine may dive to a disastrous depth. Manual control has been found better than automatic control.

Mesmerism.
Frederick Anthony Mesmer, the founder of mesmerism, was a German physician of Merseburg. His thesis setting forth the science of mesmerism was published in 1766. Mesmer contended that the heavenly bodies diffused through the universe a subtle fluid, which acts on the nervous system of all animated beings and especially upon that of man. He gained a great number of followers and realized a splendid fortune. A committee of physicians and philosophers investigated his pretensions, which were finally exposed in 1784. Notwithstanding this, however, Mesmer continued to have many friends and followers, so great was the personal "magnetism" of the man.

Superstition That Is Ancient.
In many parts of Great Britain the superstition still survives that it is folly to save a drowning man, as he will sooner or later do an injury to the rescuer. The superstition comes down from our ancestors, yet traces of it exist among the Sioux and other Indians, who seem to have inherited it from aboriginal sources. The belief is most prevalent in Cornwall and various parts of Scotland.

Greatness.
Greatness is self-conscious, not in the ordinary sense of that phrase, but in the sense that denotes consciousness of its possession.—William E. St.monds.

ANCIENT WISDOM.
 There are many things which men in threadbare coats dare not say.
 All of us are quick at learning to imitate base and depraved examples.
 What mortal man is there whom you ever saw contented with a single crime?
 Do we not look with just suspicions on the desire that covets the sin, but lacks the power?
 The examples of vice we witness at home more surely and quickly corrupt us in that they insinuate themselves into our minds under the sanction of those we revere.—Juvenal.

PUSHING AMERICAN PRODUCTS

A dispatch from Pekin says: "Charles M. Schwab, president of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, has arrived here, probably in connection with the development of the Chinese navy. Several European ship builders are already represented here in connection with the same project. China recently distributed orders for small gunboats and torpedo boats among Japanese, American German and British officers. It is understood that Prince Tsai Suun, president of the navy department, is advocating the development of the navy while certain members of the cabinet are strongly opposed to it."
 Perhaps some one will rise up and attack Mr. Schwab as being an undesirable citizen and yet he is doing more to furnish labor for the marine than all the calamity howlers in the country combined. The men of the Schwab type are the men that are making America in the business world. We need more of them and some day the people will realize the unjust attacks that have been made on them.

THE UNGRATEFUL CUBAN

A dispatch announced the other day that Cuba had ordered two gunboats from an English firm and they would be delivered this month. If this isn't showing appreciation of what the United States has done for the Cuban people—there ought to be some way of showing the narrow minded pin head officials of Cuba a few things in the way of being gratified. It is strange the hatred that the Cubans have for the Yankees, who set them free, and it is beyond the understanding of all Americans who have visited the island but just what position the officials can take in purchasing from any other country than America is beyond the comprehension of right thinking people.

BIRD'S EYE VIEWS
 Poor Foss is at last being discovered by the voters of Massachusetts. As proprietor of the "Sturtevant Blower Trust" he thought that was the whole thing in the Bay State. He has been punctured and it looks like a slaughter for him at the polls.
 The public service commission is certainly going to have a staff of assistants. Do the people want all this gilt edge style. Why not appoint Storrs on the commission? That is the type of man wanted.

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES

Autumn in New Hampshire.
 Poets from time immemorial have sung of the glories of springtime and not without reason. Nowhere, perhaps is the springtime more glorious than in New Hampshire, and New Hampshire summers are famous the wide world over. Some visitors—and their number is increasing—know the splendors of the New Hampshire autumn. The forest tints and bracing air in New Hampshire at this season constitute a veritable inspiration to every beholder. The opening of the school year throughout the country inevitably calls away a vast majority of our distinctively summer visitors, but some few remain with us through September and October, and the time is surely approaching when the attractiveness of New Hampshire during those two months, in particular will be more generally known and appreciated and when the number of autumn sojourners here will be little, if any, less than the number of those who for years have found the New Hampshire summers so delightful.—Manchester Union.

A Longer Season

New Hampshire's "summer season" has been prolonged this year beyond its usual limits and a few weeks of Indian summer will carry it still farther towards the snow storm time. One of the largest hotels in the White Mountain region will remain open until after the middle of this month and another has fixed the middle of November for its closing. The doors of the most famous of them all closed October 1 upon a number of guests who left with reluctance, some for their homes and others for hotels in the same section that were still open.
 One great factor in this prolonging our tourist season is without doubt the automobile. During the last week in September the leading hotel in Portsmouth was forced one night to set up a dozen cots for the accommodation of motor parties. On the same night travelers in sixteen cars lodged at the principal hotel in this city and a Concord party, motoring to the mountains, arrived at the Crawford house in the early evening just in time to secure the last available accommodations and to see more belated arrivals turned away.
 Our good roads and good hotels will continue to cooperate in bringing more and more people from without the state within our borders. They will begin to come as soon as the snow goes in the spring and they will stay until the wheels of their cars crush through winter drifts. Their increasing numbers and lengthened stay among us must be taken into consideration in making plans for the state's future.
 And it will not be long before the almost untouched possibilities of New Hampshire as a winter resort get the attention which they deserve. We have unexcelled and seldom equalled opportunities for the sports of the season and the time is coming when we will advertise them to the world and attract here our share of seekers for pleasure and health in midwinter as well as in midsummer.—Concord Monitor.

 Mayor Edgerlon's appointment of a day, Oct. 9, to be set apart for the consideration and employment of means for fire prevention is a wise innovation. Especially valuable is the suggestion that the children in the schools be given simple instruction

Skin Troubles Quickly Relieved

The powers of the new remedy, Cadum, for skin diseases, can be seen after an overnight application. Before retiring, apply Cadum to a small part of the skin affected with eczema, pimples, eruptions, sores, itching, burning, skin or chaffings, and see how strange the hatred that the Cubans have for the Yankees, who set them free, and it is beyond the understanding of all Americans who have visited the island but just what position the officials can take in purchasing from any other country than America is beyond the comprehension of right thinking people.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY
Gleanings From Files of Portsmouth Chronicle

Fifty-seven wounded prisoners, taken at Bull Run, have arrived at Fort Monroe from Richmond. They report 5,000 rebels at Richmond, that the rebel army on the Potomac is supposed to be over 150,000 and the apprehensions of an attack on the seaboard cause great anxiety.
 We learn the Co. K, of the Second regiment have presented to their commanding officer, Lieut. John S. Sides, a splendid sword, said to be the finest blade in the regiment. Its cost was thirty dollars. Such a handsome testimonial must be peculiarly gratifying to Lieut. Sides, coming from the men under his command, who thus testify that experience has tended only to increase their confidence in him.

THEATRICAL TOPICS

The Irish Players
 Acclaimed by both press and public as the most wonderful organization that Boston has ever witnessed, the Irish Players from the Irish National Theatre, Dublin, now playing at the Plymouth Theatre, will begin on Monday next the third week of their engagement at this new and beautiful playhouse. Because of the pre-arranged dates of their limited tour of America, the management of the Plymouth Theatre has been unsuccessful in prolonging their stay, consequently but two more weeks remain of their stay in Boston. Therefore if you have not witnessed this remarkable ingenuity of this clever and extraordinary company, you should not miss what may prove the last opportunity offered.
 The simplicity life-like and unconventionality of their plays is the treatment presented every audience that has taxed the capacity of this perfect theatre since the beginning of their engagement. The astonishing ease with which the members assume the portrayal of the various roles in deep tragedy and comedy has never before been demonstrated in Boston. It is simply an obvious illustration of their wonderful versatility. To the Boston Traveler, "Here is no acting," but life itself.
 On the other hand these players, unlike the American actors, ignore all stage traditions with amazing and effective impression. They thrill you from the moment the curtain rises. The realistic climaxes of their every play stamp a vivid and indelible picture upon your mind. They accomplish with apparent ease every aim they strive for. They present the most grippingly human effect the American stage has ever offered and carry you with them in their strikingly faithful interpretations. If you are the lover of natural acting combined with dramatic surprises you will do well not to miss seeing them.
 The bill for the week will be the most interesting of the entire repertoire. As an example of the versatility each player possesses the management announces three distinct changes for the week, presenting eight different plays, a record unparalleled in the history of the American stage. Don't miss the opportunity of a life time. The management of the Plymouth Theatre is making a special feature of paying strict and immediate attention to mail orders.

NEW CASTLE

New Castle, Oct. 9.
 "How dear to my heart are the scenes of my childhood" is being personified by the homecoming of absent sons and daughters to the dear old island town. No matter how far they have drifted, no matter how strongly they have become attached to the place where they have pitched their tents the bonds which bind them to the old home are the most lasting. To the most of us this old town is more like home than any place we have ever known; the love of it has been uppermost and abiding through all the years of our lives, and toward it our willing feet have turned as the needle to the Pole, or Mohammedan pilgrim to the Mecca of his worship, in the words of Whittier, "The hills are dearest which our childish feet have climbed the earliest and the streams most sweet. Are ever those at which our young lips drank."
 Mr. B. F. Curtis of Lynn passed Sunday with his relatives.
 Mr. Alex White of Haverhill is sojourning at his cottage.
 Mr. and Mrs. Wayne D. Poole were the guests of Miss Mazie Harvey in Portsmouth Sunday.
 Mr. and Mrs. William Winn, who have been passing a brief sojourn with relatives have returned to their home in Portsmouth.
 Messrs Amory J., and Scott Meloon of Kennebunk passed Sunday with Mrs. Sarah S. Meloon.
 Mr. Thomas Jackson has returned from a two weeks' vacation with his parents in Wilmington, Del.
 Mrs. Evelyn McKenna, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. William Robinson, has returned to Hotel Padian, Boston.

ALONG THE RIGHT LINE.

Congressman James M. Curley of Massachusetts has sent to Secretary of the Navy Meyer a letter of protest against a reported proposal to divert the vessels of the North Atlantic fleet from the home yards from Dec. 15 to Jan. 1. Secretary J. T. Van Patten of the Portsmouth Business Men's Association, Portsmouth, Va., called the congressman's attention to the matter, and Senator Swanson of Virginia has taken up the protest.
 In the letter Congressman Curley says: "May I, at this time, lodge a respectful protest against the proposal to separate a vast number of officers and men attached to the North Atlantic fleet from their wives and families who are resident at the various yard locations, during the Christmas season, when the world is given over to family gathering and rejoicing and

A Scotch Marriage.
 By the act of 1850 the parties sign in the presence of two witnesses a declaration that they take each other as husband and wife. They then present a petition to the sheriff asking him to certify that they have been married and that one or both of them had their usual residence in Scotland before the marriage or had resided there for twenty-one days preceding it. This petition may be presented within three months of the declaration constituting the marriage, but is usually presented within three hours. The parties and witnesses attend before the sheriff, and the witnesses confirm on oath the statements of fact. The sheriff thereupon grants warrant to the registrar to register the marriage. The registration can then be completed at once. The whole procedure takes only an hour or two, and the cost is only a few shillings. On the eve of the new year and summer holidays there is a constant procession of newly married couples and their witnesses before the sheriff in Glasgow. The suitors are principally drawn from the artisan classes, and the classes below them, but there is usually a sprinkling of a better class.—London Spectator.

Making His Mark.
 "One funny thing I have learned about human nature," said a drug store cashier, "is the habit many people have of marking their name in the city directory. They do that because the directory is the only place where their name ever gets into print, and it has such a fascination for them that they can't resist calling attention to it. A funny little old man who likes to talk tells me that he has made special trips to different parts of the city just to mark his name in the directories of the neighborhood. He puts a little cross in red ink before it. I asked him what good it did. He said none, possibly, although he is a teacher of languages and may get a few calls on account of that queer advertisement."
 "But his is an exceptional case. Not many persons spend time and money hunting up city directories, but every time they happen to see a new one they can't help looking up their name and putting some kind of a mark around it."—Philadelphia Ledger.

When One Drills With Diamonds.
 A diamond bit for rock drilling is quite an expensive article, says Cassier's Magazine. Its value, however, will undergo fluctuations, dependent upon the price of the diamonds. Perhaps $800 is a fair value for a bit. The diamond used is exceedingly hard—harder than those usually used as jewelry. Their carat price is considerable, averaging, say, $50 per carat. The diamonds used will weigh from one to two carats, so that eight have a value ranging from $400 to $960 on the average. The loss of a bit means many diamonds gone and may lead to difficulty with the hole. The diamond is not tough, but brittle. It will withstand heavy pressure if applied evenly and without shock. It can readily be seen that drilling through seamy rock may become quite unfavorable. If there is much quartz present the abrasion may become excessive. Under ordinary conditions, however, the wear on the diamonds, while considerable, is by no means prohibitive.

Evolution of Clothes.
 Centuries ago, as Sir Walter Scott says in "Ivanhoe," men wore one thickness of clothes, whether of wool, leather or velvet. The shirt was invented, but for a long time was worn only by the nobility and gentry. Then followed the waistcoat, breeches and later on trousers. The overcoat, which succeeded the medieval cloak, was rare until the seventeenth century.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

FOOTBALL GAMES

High School Win at Exeter - Three Games at Playground - North Carolina Win from Tennessee - Two Tie Games - Wisconsin Defeat N. H. College Second Team.

The south play grounds was a busy place on Saturday afternoon when three football games were played before a crowd of about 1,000 people. It was a real bargain day for with the exception of the first game no attempt was made to make any collection.

There was one thing evident and that is that where such a crowd of people gather, a police officer should be on duty. The game when the North Carolina and the Tennessee, was well taken care of as there was a patrol from the ships, but in the other games there was more or less trouble. In the last game between the Montana and the Portsmouth A. A. a row between a sailor and a civilian came near ending the game.

The grounds are in fairly good shape, but after the heavy rain there was more or less standing water, but a part of this was overcome by the sailors filling in many of the holes with gravel hauled from another part of the grounds. A small amount of labor should be expended by the city to put them in better condition.

The games in their order were:

Played a Tie Game.

The Tiger A. C. of this city and the strong Mohawk A. C. of Manchester were the first team on the grounds, and they played a tie game, neither team being able to score. The home team in the last period had the visitors fighting on the five yard line, but they held and no score resulted. The visitors were much heavier, but did not play as snappy as the locals, Pilgrim, Collins and Connors being especially noticeable.

North Carolina Have Walk Over.

The football team from the U. S. S. North Carolina made short work of the U. S. S. Tennessee team. The Carolina team claim the championship of the North Atlantic squadron, and they do play good football and have an especially stocky team. Their right guard is a regular giant. The Tennessee had the better team work and played the forward pass successfully for big gains but were unable to gain through the line, or withstand the attack of the Carolina team.

Another Tie Game.

The Portsmouth A. A. and the U. S.

Portsmouth High Has a Walk Over.

The Portsmouth high football team won their second game on Saturday, when they defeated Exeter high by a score of 22 to 0. The Portsmouth team at all times had the game well in hand and Exeter was never threatening although at times they played snappy football.

The 60 yard run of White was the feature play. Ralph Brackett played a fine game at quarter and run the team well and was fast running back, and in this he got good support from the entire back field. The line showed up well in Saturday's game and the whole team is rapidly rounding into excellent form and should go through their schedule without a defeat.

Wisconsin Defeat N. H. College 2nd Team.

The football team from the U. S. S. Wisconsin went to Durham on Saturday where they played the New Hampshire college second team in a fast game by a score of 6 to 5. The game was clean but the sailors were too heavy for the college boys.

Jack Leary of Greenland, playing on the college team, had his nose broken during the game.

COMMISSION'S ENGINEER

Public Service Board Engages John W. Storrs of Concord—Has Had Wide Experience

Concord, Oct. 8.—John W. Storrs of Concord has been engaged by the public service commission as consulting engineer and chief inspector. Mr. Storrs has had a large and varied experience and enjoys a high reputation in his profession. He was for some time in the engineering office of Charles C. Lund and Goss and Merrill in Concord in general civil engineering work including municipal work.

From 1890 to 1895 he was with the Concord and Montreal railroad and was resident engineer on the construction of the Whitefield and Jefferson and New Boston branches. He acted as state engineer on highway work under the administration of Governor Bachelder. For the last fifteen years he has been in the engineering department of the Boston and Maine railroad in charge of track work and supervising work of all kinds, including the building of the Concord shops and electric railway car plant, depots, engine houses, masonry arches, bridges, abutment and pier masonry, and wood and steel bridges of all kinds.

He was consulting engineer for the Montpelier and Wells River and Barre railroads until their absorption by the Boston and Maine, and has also been consulting engineer for the Woodstock railway by the Vermont. In addition to his employment by the railroads he has sold a large private practice in the course of which he has designed and built many railroads and highway bridges in Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont, among them the new highway bridge at Hooksett over the Merrimack river the Claremont bridge over the Connecticut river, and the Quebec bridge now at the point of completion over the famous Quebec gulch carrying trains 165 feet above the bed of the river.

Under Mr. Storrs' direction the commission will endeavor to secure and have on file in its office complete information as to the physical condition of New Hampshire railroads and their equipment in every particular and he will also direct the work of such other inspectors as the commission may be able to employ.

A DOUBLE WEDDING

Two Brothers Marry Two Sisters

Two brothers were married to two sisters Sunday morning and the Italian colony is rejoicing over the most prominent social affair in its history. Attached to the double wedding is a romance that began in the sunny kingdom.

Logo Lendi, 30 years old, was married to Maria Ferretto, who is 18 years old, and John Lendi was married to Gracia Ferretto, a pretty girl of 17 years. The couples were united in the Church of the Immaculate Conception in the forenoon by the Rev. Fr. Edward J. Walsh. Each couple acted as witnesses for the other. Following the wedding a celebration was begun at the home at 114 Market street.

The young brother came to this country six months ago. When he lost his native birth of Santa Catarina his sweetheart agreed that she would join him when he announced his readiness to receive her. Lomino Lendi, father of the young man, and Pasquale Ferretto, father of the girl, gave their consent to the pact.

John invited his sweetheart to come to this city shortly after his arrival. The elder sister then expressed her grief at the departure of the girl and also her desire to come to this country. That expression formed an entering wedge for the engagement of Maria and Logo, who came to this country seven years ago.

NEWMARKET

In Mrs. Sophronia Yorke now in her 92d year, Newmarket boasts one of the five real Daughters of the Revolution resident in New Hampshire. The others are Mrs. Mary U. W. Burdick of Claremont, Miss Irene E. Chase of North Conway, Mrs. Elizabeth Cobb of Charlestown and Mrs. Hannah Howard of Farmington. Mrs. Yorke, widow of Ezra T. Yorke, was born in Newmarket July 27, 1820, the daughter of David Watson, who served in the Continental Army throughout the Revolution. He was one of the last survivors of that war, dying Sept. 20, 1855, aged 87 years 7 months. His funeral was one of the most imposing ever held here, in the procession were 47 carriages and a military escort of 320, Capt. Samuel B. Davis commanding. A kinsman Benjamin D. Watson, served in the war of 1812.

Mrs. Yorke, who counts as her choicest possession the gold spoon of the real daughter, has always lived in Newmarket. She is a member of Granite Chapter, D. A. R., of Newfields. Her faculties are slightly impaired, but her general health is fair. She is proud of her parentage, and has many interesting reminiscences.

RAILWAY MAIL CLERKS HAVE A GRIEVANCE

Effected by the Economy Rules of the Department--Executive Com- mittee in Session Here.

The annual meeting of the Executive committee of the Railway Mail clerks association was held here on Friday and Saturday, at the office of National Secretary George A. Wood in Exchange block.

This organization which embraces 18,000 railway mail clerks in the United States postal service, is a wonderfully well organized body. It not only looks after the welfare of its members, but has an accident insurance department that is a big proposition. This was brought about by the mail clerks being classed as hazardous risk by the insurance companies with a very high insurance rate.

At the executive meeting some important matters were disposed of. Possibly the most important was that dealing with the recent economy plans of the post office department.

As is known Postmaster General Hitchcock has been moving the bulky second class mail matter by freight, that is magazines, etc., when long hauls come in. This has effected the mail clerks for under a ruling of the department the clerks compensation is based on car space he works in; that is there is a rate for a clerk who works in a full car and another rate for a clerk who works in an apartment car, that is a combination car. The clerk in the combination may handle as much mail as the other but he does not get as much pay. Under the new ruling the clerks are effected inasmuch as many of the full cars will be reduced to half cars, with the correspondent cut in the pay of the clerks, many of them old timers. This the association thinks unfair in fact, think the entire system unfair and so class it.

The question of the economy of the post office department is affecting the clerks otherwise, as they are not allowed to travel back and forth to their work as frequently as before on the railroads, as the department has placed certain restrictions on the commission pass held by the clerks. Several other matters of lesser importance were taken up and disposed of, and all will be presented to the

Clean bathroom tub, pipes, and sink with GOLD DUST

To keep bath tub and lavatory snow white—to keep metal pipes, fixtures and taps brightly burnished—to purify metal bowl—there's nothing on earth like GOLD DUST. GOLD DUST is the great sanitary cleanser, because it sterilizes while it cleans, and drives out every germ and hidden impurity.

Other products may clean the surface—GOLD DUST cleanses to the bottom.

Add a heaping teaspoonful of GOLD DUST to a pail of water and you are ready to prove these claims.

Athletics' Two Star Catchers. Can They Stop the Giants' Speeders From Pilfering Sacks?

Philadelphia, Oct. 9.—Can Thomas Merkle, Herzog and Dayle are among the ten leading bag thieves in the National league. New York critics predict that the Giants' speed boys will amuse the spectators with the manner in which they will purloin the bags. But will they? Thomas and Lapp are two of the best backstops in the American league. Before the

FOR THE CHILDREN

A Flower Game.

Slips of paper are handed about to each guest with pencils. Then the leader, standing in the center of the room, reads from a pad prepared for the purpose charades like the following:

My first is as sharp as needles; my second as soft as down.

The answer, thistle-down, is written by as many as can guess it in the limit of time given, which should not be over three minutes.

This is followed by similar suggestions, such as:

My first is made in a dairy, but seldom served in my second. Answer: Buttercup.

My first wears my second on his head. Answer: Cockroach.

My first dislikes to do my second when he is called in the morning. Answer: Jump-up.

My first is shy and cannot wear my second. Answer: Foxglove.

My first makes candy desirable; my second is an emperor. Answer: Sweet William.

My first is a weapon; my second where money is made. Answer: Spicelint.

My first is like a beggar's coat; my second a red breasted bird. Answer: Ragged robin.

My first we all like to eat; my second is a cluster. Answer: Candytuft.

My first you do when you wed; my second is a yellow metal. Answer: Marigold.

Many more may be thought of, and it would be better to prepare the list beforehand. The object is to be the first to think of the proper flower. The one giving the most correct answers in advance of the others receives a prize.

COMRADES ATTENTION.

All comrades who can are requested to meet at Grand Army hall, Tuesday, Oct. 10th at 1 o'clock p. m. to attend the funeral of our late comrade, Marcus M. Collins, and carriages will be furnished. Services at the Universalist church at 2 o'clock. All who can make it convenient are requested to appear in uniform with white gloves.

when to put para. so important is the leader's office that a side with a good leader will always vanquish a much superior force which has no commander to guide it.

Running Maze—A Game.

The players should form in a long line, one behind the other. The leader starts running and is followed by all the rest. They must be sharp enough to do exactly as the leader does. After running for a moment or two in the ordinary step the leader changes to a hopping step, then to a marching step, quick time, then to a marching step, slow time, claps, runs with hand on sides or shoulders or any other manner which may occur to him.

Finally the leader runs slowly round and round into the center and can either wind the line up tightly or can turn them on nearly the center and run out again. This is a nice game for an outdoor party.

Conundrums.

Why is coal the most contradictory article known to commerce? Because when purchased instead of going to the buyer it goes to the cellar.

What is the difference between a tube and a foolish Dutchman? One is a hollow cylinder, the other is a silly Hollander.

What are they which, though always drunk, are never intoxicated? Toasts.

What word of three syllables specifies the time of dance? At-ten-dance.

A Simple Trick.

The man who cut one hole in his door for the cat and another for the kitten would find it difficult to pass a nickel through a hole the size of a dime cut in a stout piece of paper. This explains how easily it can be done. Fold the paper across the center of the hole, place the nickel in the fold and bend the lower corners of the paper upward. This elongates the opening, and the coin falls through.

Two Flowers.

The dahlia was named after Andrew Dahl, a Danish botanist, who was a pupil of Linnaeus. The flower is a native of Mexico, but was first cultivated in Europe by Dahl. It was taken to England about 1804. The word daisy is a corruption of "day's eye," as the pretty flower used to be called. The old English form was "dayseye."

Adam's Luck.

Adam had one thing to be thankful for. He never had to weed his father's onion bed when all the other boys had gone down to the river swimming.

WILL BE TAKEN ON EXTRADITION PAPERS

Sheriff Spinnery leaves today for Lawrence, Mass., to get Wilfred Seveigny, who is wanted here for breaking and entering the Newfield post office on November last.

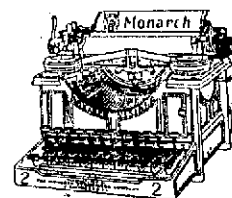

Sweeney was recently released from jail in Lawrence, but immediately re-arrested for the officers of this county. He refused to come to this state and Sheriff Spinnery was forced to get extradition papers. These were honored by Gov. Foss of Massachusetts on Saturday and today the prisoners will be brought here.

A CAPABLE OFFICER RETIRED

Maj. Henry Leonard of the Marine Corps has been transferred to the retired list. The President has approved the findings of the retiring board, which found him incapacitated for active duty on account of physical disability incurred in the line of duty.

Maj. Leonard was commended for gallantry during the Boxer uprising in China where he served as captain of marines. He risked his life and lost an arm in rescuing his chum, Lieut. Smedley D. Butler, U. S. M. C., who was wounded and helpless at Tien-Tsin.

For half a mile he carried the lieutenant on his back under fire. He was shot in the right arm, which was later amputated.

He served on the battleship S. Paul with Capt. Sigbee, and when the war in China broke out he was commissioned captain July 13, 1900, and major May 13, 1908, and assigned to duty at the Portsmouth Navy Yard in command of the naval prison. His last sea cruise expired in February, 1904.

His retirement is a distinct loss to the navy department, for besides being an excellent officer, with an ability to properly train men, he is a lawyer of national reputation.

Do You Want TO KEEP Your Goods On Your Shelves?

No? Then Use The Inverted Gas Lamp.

The best stock of goods in town, displayed under ordinary illumination, will remain on the shelves simply because the people who buy are attracted to the brilliantly illuminated store of a competitor.

The New Inverted Gas Arc Lamps enable any merchant to improve the illumination of his store to a higher standard than possible by any other lighting system—at less cost.

Let us prove this to you.

they have calculated that the erosive action of the water has been wearing away the rock shelf at the notch of the "horseshoe" at the rate of five feet a year. Thus the water is sucked from the ends and concentrates in a deep channel near the middle. The proposal has been made that the governments should stop this wearing away by the construction of a submerged dam. If it is built it will be of indestructible material; and it will tend to restore the former natural appearance of the Falls by spreading the enormous volume of water out over the whole width of the river—giving back to the ends what the middle has stolen from them.

He will be tried in court this afternoon.

There were four drunks on the police blotter Saturday night. Sunday there were no arrests.

IF IN DOUBT VISIT

CORNSTALK DISEASE.

Look Out For Your Cattle If You Let Them Run in Fields.

When cattle are allowed to run in stalk fields it frequently happens that a large per cent die from various causes. All these troubles are classed under the one term—cornstalk disease. In some western fields where there is a second growth of corn stalks late in the fall an early frost will at times develop in the stalk a deadly poison, hydrocyanic acid, which kills the animal in a very few minutes after eating it, says the Kansas Agricultural college.

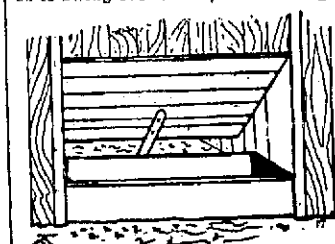

In the last year or two some of our state experiment stations have been investigating several molds which seem to affect not only cattle, but horses as well. These molds grow quite abundantly upon cornstalks, alfalfa and other forage crops. The death of a great number of animals has been traced directly to the feeding of such affected fodder, hay or corn. These molds, however, must have a certain amount of moisture for their growth, and it has been shown that when the feeds have been properly harvested and sheltered no trouble has resulted. Only in materials exposed to the weather, allowing the development of these lower forms of plant life, has serious trouble been found.

In the treatment of these troubles nothing reliable can be given, as disease usually comes on without any warning, and the animal dies suddenly. Much of the trouble can be avoided by allowing the animals only a limited amount of the feed or in the stalk field a few hours only each day. It is necessary that plenty of pure water should be given frequently and enough of other roughage to keep the animals from gorging themselves on the fodder.

HOW TO SAVE PIG FOOD.

Easy Way to Prevent Waste and Also to Keep the Shoats Clean.

Many a time will the pig spill his food all over the ground. It can be stopped by making a trough similar to the one shown in the drawing. Place an ordinary trough right in front of the gate. Take the gate off its hinges and swing from a rod at the top, so as to swing over the top of the trough.

FOOD PROTECTING TROUGH.

When pouring the swill into the trough the gate is swung inward and held in place by the fastener shown. When the trough is full the gate is swung back and fastened. The trough itself is made of heavy material and securely fastened by a stake at each end, which also prevents the hog from getting into the end when the gate is swung open.

Boil Ropes Straight.

The best way to soften hay carrier ropes is to boil them in wood ashes. This is a formula forty years old that has never been known to fail. Put one-fourth to one-half bushel in enough water to cover rope, say six to ten palfrals, according to the size of your kettle. Boil it until you are sure that it is thoroughly wet through, hang it up to dry and leave it alone until perfectly dry. Then you will have a rope as soft and pliable as a tow string and one that will give double the service in wear as one untreated. It will pay any one to try the experiment.

MAKE HENS PRODUCERS.

The fowls belonging to the average farmer weigh from three to four pounds. They should weigh from six to eight pounds. The average hen lays seventy-five eggs a year. She should lay 150 eggs a year. These gains can be made by careful selection and breeding. Do not kill the laying hen. Weed out the nonproducers.

Live Stock Notes.

Ensilage may be fed to sheep, but roots are better and safer.

Every quadruped on the place earns his salt, but does it always get it?

The best way to be sure of healthy sheep is to give them good feed and the best care you can.

Pick out the best lamb in the flock to keep or else buy one of some successful breeder of sheep.

Because sheep have warm coats it does not follow that they can be exposed to wet and storms.

The colt should early be taught the use of the halter and made to know that his master is his friend.

Five minutes' work with a rough cloth on the horse's hide after a hard day's work will do him a lot of good.

What we want to do in working a horse for the first time is to teach it to do things which it never did before.

The flock should have salt constantly before it in the pasture, so the sheep can help themselves to it when they crave it. Salt is one of the essentials of success in handling sheep.

It is scarcely necessary to suggest that it is good policy to make a close examination of any newly purchased hogs and be assured that they are absolutely free from lice before they are turned with the other hogs.

Taylor System for Norfolk

Naval Constructor Hohen A. Evans, U. S. Navy, who has recently been on duty as superintending construction at the Bath Iron Works, has been detached from that duty and ordered to Norfolk to superintend the introduction and elaboration of the principle of scientific management at that yard. Naval Constructor Evans has been on temporary duty at the Navy department and is considered one of the foremost experts of the Taylor system of shop management. He has had considerable experience in this line at the navy yards at Mare Island and Puget Sound, and it is believed his duties at Norfolk and vicinity will be in the nature of superintending the introduction of features of the "Taylor System."

Visitor from Annapolis

Miss Evelyn Worthington of Annapolis is the guest of her sister, Mrs. John Marston at the marine barracks.

Nothing Doing For Portsmouth

A target competition between teams of six men from the marine barracks, New York; marine barracks, Boston; naval prison guard, Boston; and naval barracks, Portsmouth; and naval prison guard, Portsmouth, held on the rifle range at Wakefield, Mass., on October 2, was won by the men from New York.

North Carolina Comes to Yard.—Tugmaster Phinney Does Excellent Job

The cruiser North Carolina came up to the yard at one o'clock this afternoon and was berthed at the flat iron pier. Tugmaster Phinney handled the cruiser which is his first big vessel since he took up his duties here. He did an excellent job in a strong wind and some tide, putting the big sea fighter into a berth which requires more care than any other place along the water front.

Major Leonard's Retirement

The president has approved the findings of the retiring board which recently examined Major Henry Leonard, of the marine corps, at his own request and found him incapacitated for active duty on account of physical disability incurred in the line of duty. Accordingly, Major Leonard has been transferred to the retired list from September 30. As he is an additional number, his retirement will not result in promotions. For the present he will continue on active duty, as he is under orders for duty as judge advocate of a general court martial which is meeting at this yard. Lieutenant Colonel Lewis C. Lucas has been ordered to relieve Major Leonard in charge of the advanced base school at the navy yard, Philadelphia.

Seven Workmen for the Hull

Two culkers and chippers, two rivet leathers, one driller and left hand, and one right hand riveter, were called for work in the hull division today.

INTERESTING CAREER

Benjamin F. Downing Active, Hearty and Strong at 82 Years

Benjamin Franklin Downing of Elliot, Me., is one of the few men living in this section who paraded as a guard on the occasion of the reception tendered to the Prince of Wales on Boston Common in October 1859 on the occasion of the young prince's first visit to this country.

He was born at Foxpoint, Newington, Sept. 29, 1829, son of Richard and Annie Downing. His father was killed in an accident when Benjamin was about 6 years old and the son went to Elliot to reside with a relative, John Frost. He worked at farming until he was 16 and then went to Salmon Falls, where he worked for six years. He then went to Newmarket, where he was employed as a foreman in the Newmarket Manufacturing company's mills for two years.

He returned to Salmon Falls, but becoming tired of mill work he purchased a chest of tools and went to New York, where he worked four years as a carpenter.

While in New York he first saw President Lincoln, and was in the crowd that followed him to the Crystal Palace at the time of the opening of the World's Fair.

In 1859 he went to Boston and worked that year and the next at house carpentering. On the occasion of the Prince of Wales' visit to Boston a cousin of Mr. Downing was a member of a Zouave company that was ordered out for guard duty on that occasion. He was unable to leave his work, and Mr. Downing substituted for him, and carried a gun during the day.

He was quite near to the young prince, who was only 16 years old at the time, and described him as dressed with a blouse shirt, black hip pants and black hose.

In 1861 he returned to Elliot and was appointed postmaster. He also was freight agent for the Portsmouth and Portland railroad.

Mr. Downing recalls the fact that although he was employed during the day time, that he built his home in Elliot after his day's labor had been finished working many nights until midnight, and then having to walk a mile and a half to John Frost's where he boarded.

He also witnessed the passage of the first train, consisting of a locomotive and two cars, on the Portsmouth and Portland road in 1844.

For 27 years, up to within a short time ago, Mr. Downing was employed at the Navy Yard, his last employment being the boat shop.

He married Miss Lizzie Barlett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Barlett of Elliot, and six children were born to them: Mrs. Maud Small wife of conductor John E. Small of Lynn; Henry B. Downing, Mrs. Fernando W. Hartford and George W. Downing of Portsmouth, Edward B. Downing of Tannion, and Charles L. Downing of Williamstown, Mass.

Mr. Downing retains all his faculties. His hearing is good and his eyesight keen. He is deft with tools and during his leisure time is engaged in carving peach-stone baskets, collar buttons from teak wood from the captured Spanish cruiser Reina Mercedes, and other novelties which he takes pleasure in presenting to his friends as souvenirs.

NEITHER LOST OR STOLEN

Finds The Money in His Coat Pocket

John Channell who reported a loss of $100 to the police on Saturday last feels somewhat better today. When talking to the police he could not remember whether he had been touched or if the money which he had just drawn from the bank had been lost. He felt 10 years younger today when he informed the officers that the bundle was safe and was located in his inside pocket discovered after a thorough search after getting home.

WILLIAMS—COOKE

Richard D. Williams of Richmond, Va., and Miss Bertha M. Cooke of Washington were quietly married in Boston on Saturday, the ceremony being performed by Rev. William H. Thomas of the Charles street Methodist Episcopal church. The groom is a ward room steward on the Nebraska.

They are to reside in the city for the present with Fritz A. Williams, 5 Russell street. The groom rejoined his ship today and the bride is now in this city.

OBITUARY

Colonel W. S. Pillsbury

The death of Colonel W. S. Pillsbury of Londonderry on Saturday removes another distinguished New Hampshire citizen and soldier. He was well known in this city.

CONDUCTORS TO ASK QUESTIONS

Passengers Required to Tell Where They Are Going. Public Service Commission Seeks Information

Pretty young women and old maids may feel like getting angry when the conductors of the Boston and Maine railroad approach them on a train and ask them where they came from and where they are going. Don't answer the question by answering quick "that is none of your business." He knows that now. The conductor is not doing any gumshoe work, he is only carrying out the orders of the railroad officials, who have been ordered by the new public service commission to find out the number of people traveling wholly within the state; the number traveling from stations outside the state to stations inside the state, and the number traveling between stations outside the state, but passing through part of New Hampshire.

So far as conductors have been handled nicely by the public, but polite as they may be the "gronches" takes a bite at the man with the brass buttons.

Freight agents also have their troubles and they are bothering people about shipments in and out of the state. This plan is going to make quite a lot of extra work for railroad men, say nothing of the trouble they are likely to run up against in asking these questions.

PEOPLE'S OPINIONS

Editor Herald:—The passing of the Free Will Baptist Society after 84 years of existence seems like the passing of a New Hampshire Society, for the founder was Benj. Randall, who was born at New Castle. "You can drive a horse to water, but you cannot make him drink." The rank and file of the Free Baptist were opposed to the uniting the two societies, but the leaders as in politics did the business, they will get their reward by some fine position in the Society and the people will center to different societies and in time the true condition will appear that the leaders destroyed Free Baptist Society instead of uniting them with another Society.
